Frequently Asked Questions

What is Clean Exit Integrity Pledge?

The clean exit integrity pledge is an undertaking for upholding integrity at workplace at all times.

What happens if a staff breaks a policy?

The school can centrally report serious offences and non-compliances to the Clean Exit platform and it becomes part of permanent record of the staff. This data is shared with all other schools, providing strong deterrence for crimes.

How are other schools notified?

For major offences, the member schools recieve auto-notifications with details that caution them to hire a resource only after complete verification.

Why share data with law enforcement?

Safeguarding the rights of children and protecting them is a top priority of every law enforcement. Sharing the staff database with the police ensures they have the latest records of your workplace and know where the staff lives, enabling them to protect and serve you better at all times.

How is data collected in Clean Exit?

Clean exit uses various sources such as Police verification, Court verification, NCRB Data, Google News, Data Analytics, Social Media and Direct company or employer feedback.

Clean exit program is maintained by Information Sharing and Analysis Center (ISAC), a nonprofit foundation established for bringing social impact through use of technology and data analytics.

How Schools are using Clean Exit

1

BEFORE JOINING
Verify Past Behavior and Character

The process of hiring is very expensive and time consuming. No company prefers unethical staff or people with history of bad behaviour as it can damage their reputation and even put the business at risk, financially and legally.

2

AFTER JOINING
Record Misconduct and Behavior

Recording of misconduct and integrity issues as long as the employee works with the company is a strong deterrence and prevents potential frauds and bad behaviour at workplace. Motivates ethical culture and improves confidence of good employees.

3

EXITING COMPANY
Conduct Exit Interview

An exit interview literally helps prevent bigger problems. Studies have shown that exit interviews prevent 90% legal cases against the company, helps detect larger issues in management and removes potential anger or negativity from an employee.
